Instructions for breakout sessions

Participants will randomly be assigned into three virtual breakout rooms to discuss the following questions surrounding industry involvement to advance the OIT ad hoc Committee charge. Each group will have a committee chair or GLC staff member designated as the note-taker. Although groups will work through the same set of guiding questions, the small group format is meant to increase the amount of time each member has available to actively participate. Additionally, each work group will be given two different industry pathways to reflect on (listed below). Discussion within the breakout sessions should be guided by the following questions:

- What do we want to hear/learn from this OIT industry?
- What is the most effective way to engage with this industry?
- What do you want the industry to learn/do because of our engagement?
